DeGaulle Asks Parliament For Powers

Cabinet Seeks Nod
To Rule by Decree
Until April 1, 1961

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle's government readied a request to the French Parliament today for a free hand to rule France and Algeria for the next 14 months without legislative interference.

A government bill to be submitted to a special session of the National Assembly and the Senate asks for special powers to govern by decree until April 1, 1961. Parliament would be in recess until that date, when it would meet to ratify or disapprove the Cabinet decrees issued in the interim.

Both houses were expected to grant the Cabinet's request, but strong criticism was expected first from right-wing extremists.

The call for special powers came in the wake of the collapse, Monday, of the right-wing colonialists' revolt against De Gaulle's promise of self-determination for the North African territory still in the throes of a year-old revolt by Moslem nationalists.

The National Assembly was not expected to vote on the government's request until after midnight (6 p. m. EST), and Senate action may not come until late Wednesday.

One of the chief leaders of the French insurgents, Pierre Lagailarde, was flown to Paris Monday night and clapped into Sante Prison less than 12 hours after he had marched the remnants of his forces out from behind the barricades in Algiers and surrendered.

Lagailarde, a deputy in the National Assembly, was told he was being charged with an attack on the security of the state. Deputies are immune from arrest unless caught committing a crime, and Lagailarde apparently made no effort to plead immunity.

Another insurgent leader, Algiers cafe proprietor Joseph Ortiz, was a fugitive. A warrant was out for his arrest.

De Gaulle could have asked that the special powers be voted to him personally, but under the constitution Parliament then would have remained in session to approve his decrees. With Premier Michel Debre's Cabinet getting the special powers and Parliament going to recess, De Gaulle will not have to deal with the National Assembly and the Senate while working to prevent a recurrence of the Algiers uprising.

Troops in Algiers moved through the area around the university and post office where thousands of insurgents barricaded themselves a week ago Sunday in defiance of the Paris government. Munitions and explosives stockpiled by the insurgents were loaded on army trucks and driven off. Streets and buildings were searched for bombs and booby traps.

The army started lifting its cordon around the center of Algiers, and civilians were allowed to penetrate the insurgents' former stronghold, the area around the university and the post office.

GOP Hooper Withdraws

William L. Hooper, 399 N. Scioto St., today announced he is withdrawing from the Republican nomination primary race for Pickaway County State Representative.

The 38-year-old Hooper took out nomination petitions for the May 3 primary last December. He said he is dropping from the race because he will enter a hospital tomorrow for surgery that will confine him for at least 14 weeks.

Hooper said he regrets withdrawing but will continue to support the GOP party. This cuts the Republican nominee candidates to two.

They are Leslie Hines, Route 1, and Darrell Hatfield, 48, of 345 Sunset Drive. The winner will oppose Democratic incumbent Ed Wallace, 72, of 425 N. Court St., who is unopposed in the primary.

Ironically, all three primary candidates are Circleville realtors.

Mr. Groundhog Says Winter Due in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—If old Mr. Groundhog didn't see his shadow today, it was only because he was blinded by the brilliant sunshine.

Traditionally, that means six more weeks of winter.

That, as the fella said, can't hardly be true this year.

How can we have more winter when we ain't had no winter?

For most of Ohio, this has been a "nothing" winter so far, temperatures four to five degrees above normal, few extremes.

Except for the belt just south of Lake Erie, Ohioans have seen precious little snow since the leaves fell last autumn.

But, we never can count on the weather—or even on the groundhog being wrong. So it'll probably snow on Easter, maybe even Mothers Day.

In Pennsylvania's fabled haunts grownup men today put aside routine and dignity to spy on a quaint, often cranky little animal supposed to be a weather prophet.

For this is Groundhog Day and nowhere is the legend of the groundhog's prophetic powers more deeply rooted in folk culture. And nowhere has the groundhog cult been at it for so long and with such astonishing vigor as in Pennsylvania.

At its simplest, groundhoggy means that if the shaggy, rheumy-eyed oracle pops out of hibernation and sees his shadow, winter will last at least six more weeks. If he doesn't see his shadow, winter will shine spring, and fast.

On such barebones thousands of Pennsylvanians, formed into clubs and coteries, have grown a flesh rich in invention, fantasy and friskiness.

At Quarryville, in Lancaster County, heart of the Pennsylvania Dutch country, the Slumbering Groundhog Lodge claims to be the most rugged, zealous and picturesque in the land.

Under the leadership of its hibernating governor, Robert Herr, a pump maker normally, the lodge brothers turn out at dawn in tall silk hats and long white nightrobes, some on foot, some on horseback, many aboard a train on a four-mile long abandoned railroad taken over for this purpose. They carry shepherds' crooks and wear heavy chains and huge golden keys around their necks on their chests.

In Western Pennsylvania, the devotees of Punxsutawney Pete, who for years has forecast weather from famed Gobbler's Knob, deride the Quarryville boys as copy cats. Quarryville retorts that whatever age difference there may be is slight, and what's more, its members seek out the groundhog properly whereas the Punxsutawney club just pretends to do so.

Elsewhere in Pennsylvania, other doings of a rare order are the forays of "Grundsow Nummer Ains on da Lecha," which means "Groundhog No. 1 on the Lehigh," and the sometimes solemn, sometimes facetious sizing up of groundhog reactions at the Philadelphia Zoo.

Tarleton Auto Case Dead; Ford Dismisses Appeal

The Tarleton confiscated auto case appears dead today after attorney, Evan P. Ford, dismissed the village's appeal of the Pickaway County Common Pleas Court's decision of the case.

The Canal Winchester attorney asked for dismissal of his appeal which was filed in late December with the 4th District Court of Appeals.

Tarleton asked the Appeals Court to overrule County Common Pleas Judge William Ammer's decision and place the auto in the hands of Tarleton County for its disposition.

The automobile in question was owned by Leonard Posner, 22, New York, N. Y., who was recently placed on five years probation for the illegal possession of narcotics.

POSNER and his partner, Lemuel Carter, 26, New York, N. Y., were apprehended in Tarleton's village square on July 12, 1959.

A day later, Deputy Sheriff Dwight Radcliff found several packets of heroine, needles and syringes in the automobile while it was parked in the courthouse lot.

Both Posner and Carter were indicted by a County Grand Jury for the illegal possession of narcotics. Carter was convicted by a Common Pleas Court petit jury and sentenced to the Ohio State Penitentiary, Columbus, for two to 15 years.

After Posner was placed on probation, Common Pleas Judge William Ammer ordered the automobile confiscated and its title placed in the name of the sheriff's Department.

4 Candidates Declare for May 3 Primary

Four May 3 primary election candidates filed their declarations of candidacy with the Pickaway County Board of Elections yesterday and today.

Mrs. Martha Hitler Ebenhack, 42, Route 2, filed her Democratic nominating petitions for Clerk of Courts in her first attempt in politics.

Charles H. Glitt, 44, of 1101 S. Court St., filed for the Democratic County Commissioner nomination in his first attempt in county-wide politics.

Clyde E. Michel, 55, Route 1, Orient, filed his petitions seeking re-election as County Commissioner. He is a Democrat seeking his second straight term.

ROBERT J. SHADLEY, 42, of 324 E. Mound St., filed his declaration of candidacy for the Democratic nomination as County Treasurer. This is his first attempt in the political ring.

The filing deadline is 4 p. m. Wednesday for all candidates whether members of political parties or running as independents.

Ashville Man Eyes Sheriff

Gale Leatherwood
Seeks GOP Spot

C. Gale Leatherwood, Ashville, today filed his Republican declaration of candidacy for Pickaway County Sheriff.

The 32-year-old Leatherwood will try for the GOP nomination in the May 3 primary. If successful, he has no opposition to date. Leatherwood will face incumbent Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff, Democrat seeking his tenth consecutive term.

Leatherwood is a native of Ross County and a 1946 graduate of Ashville High School. He attended Ohio University, Athens, for one year before entering the Armed Services.

He spent two years in the service, a portion of that time in Japan. A member of the reserves from 1948 to 1950, he was reactivated for the Korean conflict in 1950 and 1951. He was sergeant-major of a motor battalion.

Ohio Family Is Bequeathed $19 Million

Mrs. Page, widow of industrialist DeWitt Page, left an estate valued at $27,954,566, an inventory filed in Probate Court here disclosed Monday. Mrs. Page died last Oct. 5.

The will made charitable and specific bequests totaling 9 million dollars. The residue was left in trust to Mrs. Hoopes and her children.

The largest single bequest of stock was made to Big Joe's Happiness Exchange Foundation of New York City. The foundation, which conducts a nightly radio program, will receive 22,000 shares of General Motors Corp. stock with a current market value of $1,210,000.

Mrs. Page's husband was one of the founders of the New Departure Manufacturing Co., now a bearing-manufacturing subsidiary of General Motors.

Bender Decries 'Stinky Deal,' Plans To File

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Former U.S. Sen. George H. Bender of Cleveland said he will file Wednesday to become a candidate for delegate-at-large to the Republican National National Convention.

Bender notified Secretary of State Ted W. Brown by telephone that he would file petitions bearing 1,500 names from 50 counties. He will run pledged to himself as his first choice for President. His second choice will be Attorney Gail Halley of Berea, Ohio. Halley requires delegate candidates to name their first and second presidential choices.

As a candidate, Bender will oppose the state Republican organization's slate of 10 delegates-at-large to be elected statewide in the May 3 primary.

"It is a stinky deal for the organization to leave me off the slate," Bender told newsmen.

U.N. Seeks Cease-Fire in Border Clash

LONDON (AP)—The British government announced receipt of official information from the United Nations today that a cease-fire has been arranged in the Syrian border clash between Israeli and United Arab Republic troops.

"The U.N. Truce Observation Commission is on the spot, a foreign office spokesman said. 'This commission has the first responsibility of trying to settle the matter locally.'"

The newspaper Al Ahran reported Egyptian troops have moved up all along Israel's western desert frontier in the past three days. The paper said the Egyptian army had been placed on a state of emergency so that it and forces in the Syrian province of the United Arab Republic would be "fully prepared to meet all eventualities." All military leaves were cancelled.

In Oslo, the Norwegian army command announced Norwegian troops serving with the U.N. force would be pulled out immediately if serious fighting developed between the U.A.R. and Israel. The Norwegian command said its troops were on the Egyptian-Israeli border for police duty only.

Daily clashes since Friday between Israeli and Syrian troops prompted the dispatch of the Egyptian forces to the Sinai frontier, where men of the U.N. Emergency Force maintain preventive patrols as an aftermath of the Israeli invasion of 1956.

So far there has been no action on the Israeli-Egyptian frontier. Four days of shooting which renewed fears of a Middle East outbreak have been limited to Israel's northeast frontier, where a demilitarized zone separates Israel and the Syrian province of the U.A.R.

Israel charged more firing Monday night from the Syrian side of the frontier. An Israeli spokesman said Syrian mortars and machine-guns opened fire just before midnight in the demilitarized Jordan River sector near the Sea of Galilee.

Army Gls To Get Fast, New Rifles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army troops are getting a new rifle that can fire at the rate of 750 shots a minute when equipped with a fire selector.

That's much faster than the .30-calibre machine guns now in general use. They fire a maximum of 525 rounds a minute.

Units of the 101st Airborne Division at Ft. Campbell, Ky., began getting the new M14 rifle last week. The entire division will be equipped with the new weapon by the end of this year.

The new rifle is designed to replace the M1 Garand rifle, the M2 carbine, the Browning automatic rifle, and the M3 submachine gun.

U.S. Senate Starts Voting On Bills Ending Poll Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP)—After a week of debate, the Senate starts voting today on measures aimed at eliminating the poll tax as a voting requirement.

Although many Southerners oppose such a move in any form, the principal argument is over whether it should be done by a constitutional amendment or by a simple act of Congress.

The first test was expected on a proposal of Sen. Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla.) to submit to the states a constitutional amendment banning the poll tax in federal elections.

Holland wants this added as another section to a different constitutional amendment proposal of Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.). Kefauver's proposal would give governors the power to fill House vacancies if more than half the membership of that body is wiped out in a disaster such as a nuclear attack.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), who opposes the Holland proposal, conceded Monday that it was sure of adoption.

It will take only a majority vote to tie the anti-poll tax amendment into Kefauver's measure. However on final Senate passage, a constitutional amendment has to muster a two-thirds vote.

If the Holland proposal is carried as expected, Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.) plans to offer as a substitute for the entire legislative package a bill to ban the poll tax by simple statute.

Javits' measure has drawn a larger Southern Fire than a far larger plan. The New Yorker appears to lack enough votes to put it over.

Southerners opposing any federal move against the poll tax continued to argue that regulation of election procedures should be left entirely up to the states.

Russell said that Georgia had abolished the poll tax and that he supported this action. But he insisted that Congress should not meddle in this field.

Five states still require voters to pay such a levy — Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, Texas and Virginia.

Shucks! Only Swamp Fox Call Needed

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—If 6-year-old Timothy Brennan is to grow up, his neighbors had better learn the swamp fox call.

Timothy and his three brothers were playing "swamp fox" Monday evening near their suburban home. The idea was for Timothy to hide in the woods, and the others would find him by following his call of the swamp fox.

The swamp fox call is sort of a howl like—well, like the swamp fox.

Timothy howled and howled. Nobody heard him.

Before long about 250 volunteers were out tramping through the woods looking for Timothy. They found him four hours later, chilled but unafraid, and sound asleep on a log.

"I called until I was hoarse," he told the searchers reproachfully.

Timothy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Brennan, weren't too surprised at the youngster getting lost. Once he took the wrong bus at school and wound up in the neighboring county.

Asked why he didn't notice he was on the wrong bus, Timothy pondered and said: "I wondered who all those strange kids were."

Murder-Suicide Leaves 6 Orphans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Six children were orphaned today when their father shot their mother to death, then turned the 12-gauge shotgun on himself.

Dr. Robert E. Evans, coroner, ruled the deaths of Thomas Mack Peard, 36, and his wife, Martha Jane, 28, homicide and suicide.

Police said Mrs. Peard, who had filed a divorce suit two weeks ago, was shot in the stomach.

The children are Thomas, 10; Michael, 9; Charles, 8; Kathy Ann, 5; Spencer, 4, and Robert, 3. They were sleeping in an upstairs bedroom at the time of the double shooting.

Shotgunning Witnessed by Indiana Pupils

HARTFORD CITY, Ind. (AP)—A 44-year-old grade school principal shot two teachers to death today as their pupils screamed in horror.

He held off pursuers with a shotgun and fled in his aging car, touching off a manhunt.

Fifth graders in the William Reed School were bewildered, then shocked when Principal Leonard Redden stalked in with a shotgun, shouting, "Hang me, will you!" and shot Miss Harriet Robson, 52, in the right chest.

Then the principal walked up a ramp to the sixth grade room of another veteran teacher Mrs. Minnie McFerren, 62, and killed her with a point-blank shot in the face.

There were about 30 children in each classroom.

Back in the corridor, Redden waved the gun at Silas McCaffrey, a janitor, and Ralph Grimme, another sixth grade teacher who ran to see why Mrs. McFerren's children were screaming.

Grimme and McCaffrey chased Redden out of the building but he threatened them with the gun again and drove away as McCaffrey pleaded, "Don't shoot me, Larry."

School officials said they knew of no trouble between Redden and the two teachers, who were among the oldest in the city's schools.

However, they said Redden had been losing weight in the last month and had become increasingly nervous.

All schools in the city were closed for the rest of the day after the shooting on order of E. Phillips Blackburn, city school superintendent.

Redden's wife is a business education teacher in the Mississinewa High School in nearby Gas City. They have two sons, Bruce, a sophomore in Hartford City High School, and Dennis, a third grader.

Piketon Bank Robber Said To Be Known

WAVERLY, Ohio (AP)—A federal warrant was issued today for Gale Wells, 22, also known as Argyle Ison, in connection with the $128 robbery of the Piketon branch of the First National Bank of Waverly.

Authorities said Wells has a wife living in Franklin Furnace, Scioto County, and a mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. C. Z. Wells, in Camp Creek, Pike County.

The search for Wells immediately turned to southwestern Ohio after an uncle told authorities he drove the young man to Adams County about noon Monday, a few hours after the bank robbery.

Sheriff Jesse H. Foster reported recovery of the getaway car used in the holdup.

The red and white convertible was traced to a barn in the Camp Creek in southwestern Pike County. Foster said the barn belongs to the robber's parents.

At least one Piketon resident had noted the license plate of the car which had been parked near the bank before the robbery. The plate number, a Portsmouth registration, was noted because the man who got out of the car acted suspiciously, Foster said.

The robber unmasked and armed with a revolver, ordered bank Manager John Stratton, who was alone, to fill a paper bag with money, then fled in the convertible.

"It is a stinky deal for the organization to leave me off the slate," Bender told newsmen.

Ohio Family Is Bequeathed $19 Million

Mrs. Page, widow of industrialist DeWitt Page, left an estate valued at $27,954,560, an inventory filed in Probate Court here disclosed Monday. Mrs. Page died last Oct. 5.

The will made charitable and specific bequests totaling 9 million dollars. The residue was left in trust to Mrs. Hoopes and her children.

The largest single bequest of stock was made to Big Joe's Happiness Exchange Foundation of New York City. The foundation, which conducts a nightly radio program, will receive 22,000 shares of General Motors Corp. stock with a current market value of $1,210,000.

Mrs. Page's husband was one of the founders of the New Departure Manufacturing Co., now a bearing-manufacturing subsidiary of General Motors.

The first-time politician said he believed his service administrative duties and youth would serve as good qualifications for sheriff.

He married the former Ann Rogers, a one-time Circleville resident. They have two sons, Ronald, 11, and Mark, 9.

Czech Scientist Says Red Satellite Expected

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP)—A Czechoslovak scientist said today he believes the Soviet Union next month will send up a space satellite which will return to earth. He implied it might carry a living animal.

Dr. Vladimir Guth, head of the Czechoslovak Academy of Sciences observatory at Ondrejov, told the official news agency CTK he based his belief on the successful firing of two Soviet space rockets into the Pacific Jan. 20 and Sunday.

Mrs. Page's husband was one of the founders of the New Departure Manufacturing Co., now a bearing-manufacturing subsidiary of General Motors.

Westfall School Bond Issue To Require 8.94-Mill Tax

The Westfall School District bond issue of $1,395,000 for the construction and equipping of a consolidated high school will draw 3.94 mills to the tax rate of district residents if it passes at the May 3 primary.

This announcement was made today by Pickaway County Auditor Mrs. Marvina H. Rhoades. This rate is 0.03 of a mill less than would have been required if the bond issue had passed in the November, 1959 election.

The decrease is due to the increase in real estate valuation brought about by new construction in the district and reappraisal work accomplished last year by J. Leo Hedges, county appraiser.

Last year's valuation was $22,606,800 which required 3.97 mills to finance the $1,395,000 bond issue, which was defeated. The 1960 valuation has been set at $22,790,145 for an increase in real estate of $183,345.

U.N. Seeks Cease-Fire in Border Clash

LONDON (AP)—The British government announced receipt of official information from the United Nations today that a cease-fire has been arranged in the Syrian border clash between Israeli and United Arab Republic troops.

"The U.N. Truce Observation Commission is on the spot, a foreign office spokesman said. "This commission has the first responsibility of trying to settle the matter locally."

The newspaper Al Ahram reported Egyptian troops have moved up all along Israel's western desert frontier in the past three days. The paper said the Egyptian army had been placed on a state of emergency so that it and forces in the Syrian province of the United Arab Republic would be "fully prepared to meet all eventualities." All military leaves were cancelled.

In Oslo, the Norwegian army command announced Norwegian troops serving with the U.N. force would be pulled out immediately if serious fighting developed between the U.A.R. and Israel. The Norwegian command said its troops were on the Egyptian-Israeli border for police duty only.

Daily clashes since Friday between Israeli and Syrian troops prompted the dispatch of the Egyptian forces to the Sinai frontier, where men of the U.N. Emergency Force maintain preventive patrols as an aftermath of the Israeli invasion of 1956.

So far there has been no action on the Israeli-Egyptian frontier. Four days of shooting which renewed fears of a Middle East outbreak have been limited to Israel's northeast frontier, where a demilitarized zone separates Israel and the Syrian province of the U.A.R.

Israel charged more firing Monday night from the Syrian side of the frontier. An Israeli spokesman said Syrian mortars and machine-guns opened fire just before midnight in the demilitarized Jordan River sector near the Sea of Galilee.

Army GIs To Get Fast, New Rifles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army troops are getting a new rifle that can fire at the rate of 750 shots a minute when equipped with a fire selector.

That's much faster than the .30-caliber machine guns now in general use. They fire a maximum of 525 rounds a minute.

Units of the 101st Airborne Division at Ft. Campbell, Ky., began getting the new M14 rifles last week. The entire division will be equipped with the new weapon by the end of this year.

The new rifle is designed to replace the M1 Garand rifle, the M2 carbine, the Browning automatic rifle, and the M3 submachine gun.

U.S. Senate Starts Voting On Bills Ending Poll Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP)—After a week of debate, the Senate starts voting today on measures aimed at eliminating the poll tax as a voting requirement.

Although many Southerners oppose such a move in any form, the principal argument is over whether it should be done by a constitutional amendment or by a simple act of Congress.

The first test was expected on a proposal of Sen. Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla.) to submit to the states a constitutional amendment banning the poll tax in federal elections.

Holland wants this added as another section to a different constitutional amendment proposal of Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.). Kefauver's proposal would give governors the power to fill House vacancies if more than half the membership of that body is wiped out in a disaster such as a nuclear attack.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), who opposes the Holland proposal, conceded Monday that it was sure of adoption.

It will take only a majority vote to tie the anti-poll tax amendment into Kefauver's measure. However on final Senate passage, a constitutional amendment has to muster a two-thirds vote.

If the Holland proposal is carried as expected, Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) plans to offer as a substitute for the entire legislative package a bill to ban the poll tax by simple statute.

Javits' measure has drawn far greater Southern fire than Holland's plan. The New Yorker appears to lack enough votes to put it over.

Southerners opposing any federal move against the poll tax continued to argue that regulation of election procedures should be left entirely up to the states.

Russell said that Georgia had abolished the poll tax and that he supported this action. But he insisted that Congress should not meddle in this field.

Five states still require voters to pay such a levy — Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, Texas and Virginia.

Shucks! Only Swamp Fox Call Needed

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—If 6-year-old Timothy Brennan is to grow up, his neighbors had better learn the swamp fox call.

Timothy and his three brothers were playing "swamp fox" Monday evening near their suburban home. The idea was for Timothy to hide in the woods, and the others would find him by following his call of the swamp fox.

The swamp fox call is sort of a howl like—well, like the swamp fox.

Timothy howled and howled. No body heard him.

Before long about 250 volunteers were out tramping through the woods looking for Timothy. They found him four hours later, chilled but unafraid, and sound asleep on a log.

"I called until I was hoarse," he told the searchers reproachfully.

Timothy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Brennan, weren't too surprised at the youngster getting lost. Once he took the wrong bus at school and wound up in the neighborhood.

Asked why he didn't notice he was on the wrong bus, Timothy pondered and said: "I wondered who all those strange kids were."

Murder-Suicide Leaves 6 Orphans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Six children were orphaned today when their father shot their mother to death, then turned the 12-gauge shotgun on himself.

Dr. Robert E. Evans, coroner, ruled the deaths of Thomas Mack Pead, 36, and his wife, Martha Jane, 28, homicide and suicide.

Police said Mrs. Pead, who had filed a divorce suit two weeks ago, was shot in the stomach.

The children are Thomas, 10; Michael 9; Charles, 8; Kathy Ann, 5; Spencer, 4, and Robert, 3. They were sleeping in an upstairs bedroom at the time of the double shooting.

Shotgunning Witnessed by Indiana Pupils

HARTFORD CITY, Ind. (AP)—A 44-year-old grade school principal shot two teachers to death today as their pupils screamed in horror.

He held off pursuers with a shotgun and fled in his aging car, touching off a manhunt.

Fifth graders in the William Reed School were bewildered, then shocked when Principal Leonard Redden stalked in with a shotgun, shouting, "Hang me, will you!" and shot Miss Harriet Robson, 32, in the right chest.

Then the principal walked up a ramp to the sixth grade room of another veteran teacher Mrs. Minnie McFerren, 62, and killed her with a point-blank shot in the face.

There were about 30 children in each classroom.

Back in the corridor, Redden waved the gun at Silas McCaffrey, a janitor, and Ralph Grimme, another sixth grade teacher who ran to see why Mrs. McFerren's children were screaming.

Grimme and McCaffrey chased Redden out of the building but he threatened them with the gun again and drove away as McCaffrey pleaded, "Don't shoot me, Larry."

School officials said they knew of no trouble between Redden and the two teachers, who were among the oldest in the city's schools.

However, they said Redden had been losing weight in the last month and had become increasingly nervous.

All schools in the city were closed for the rest of the day after the shooting on order of E. Phillips Blackburn, city school superintendent.

Redden's wife is a business education teacher in the Mississinewa High School in nearby Gas City. They have two sons, Bruce, a sophomore in Hartford City High School, and Dennis, a third grader.

Piketon Bank Robber Said To Be Known

WAVERLY, Ohio (AP)—A federal warrant was issued today for Gale Wells, 22, also known as Argelise Ison, in connection with the $1,128 robbery of the Piketon branch of the First National Bank of Waverly.

Authorities said Wells has a wife living in Franklin Furnace, Scioto County, and a mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. C. Z. Wells, in Camp Creek, Pike County.

The search for Wells immediately turned to southwestern Ohio after an uncle told authorities he drove the young man to Adams County about noon Monday, a few hours after the bank robbery.

Sheriff Jesse H. Foster repeated recovery of the getaway car used in the holdup.

The red and white convertible was traced to a barn in the Camp Creek in southwestern Pike County. Foster said the barn belongs to the robber's parents.

At least one Piketon resident had noted the license plate of the car which had been parked near the bank before the robbery. The plate number, a Portsmouth registration, was noted because the man who got out of the car acted suspiciously, Foster said.

The robber unmasked and armed with a revolver, ordered Bank Manager John Stratton, who was alone, to fill a paper bag with money, then fled in the convertible.

Big 'O' Aims At Remaining Scoring Mark

All-Time Big College Record Now Is Only 17 Points from Books

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Cincinnati's great Oscar Robertson, that three-year major college basketball scoring record finally in the bag, can turn his attention today to the all-time scoring mark for big school players.

Such a guy is the Big O that he's all but a cinch to bust the next one in his next game, Saturday against Houston.

All-America Oscar flipped in 36 points in a 96-61 rout of Drake Monday night and shattered the three-year record of 2,338 points set in 78 games by Frank Selvy of Furman.

Robertson, heading for an unprecedented third straight national major scoring title, now has 2,571 points in 75 games as a varsity player for the top-ranked Bearcats, an average of 34.3 a game. This year he's traveling at a 35.82 average with 609 points in 17 games.

So it ought to be easy for Oscar to get the 17 points Saturday he needs to break the major all-time career record of 2,587. It was set in four seasons up to 1955, covering 104 games, by Dickie Henric of Wake Forest.

Only three points shy of Selvy's mark as he started play Monday night it took Oscar but 5½ minutes — two breakaway layups — to establish the record. He went on to collect nine fields goals and 18 of 20 free throws as Cincinnati nailed its 16th victory in 17 tries and pulled into a first-place tie at 5-1 with idle Bradley in the Missouri Valley Conference. At half-time, the game ball was presented to Robertson.

Fourth-ranked Ohio State (14-2) won its sixth Big Ten game without a loss, 99-52 over Michigan; All-America Jerry West scored 39 points and grabbed 23 rebounds as fifth-ranked West Virginia (17-2) routed VMI 101-71, tenth-ranked Texas A&M (13-1) beat San Francisco, 69-65 in overtime, and Idaho State (15-3) and Providence (11-3) extended their winning streaks in other Monday games.

Idaho State defeated Creighton 82-65 for its 11th straight — the longest streak running, while Providence walloped Niagara 68-43 for its eighth straight.

Lance Olson and Horace Walker each scored 24 points as Michigan State routed Minnesota, 84-63 and Indiana clipped Northwestern 76-58 in other Big Ten games. In the Big Eight, Colorado grabbed second place behind idle Kansas State with a 70-55 decision over Iowa State, and Nebraska won its first conference game and snapped a five-game losing streak 64-59 over Missouri.

Art Musselman's 24 points and 21 by Dick Jones triggered The Citadel's 84-55 Southern Conference record 5-2 by nipping Mississippi State 51-47 in overtime. Larry Pennington's 33 points helped Alabama to its first conference victory, 61-54 over Vanderbilt; Mississippi drubbed LSU 76-61, and Tennessee got 27 points from Glenn Campbell in an 84-68 victory over Florida in other SEC games.

New Mexico State (14-3) won its seventh straight, 78-66 over New Mexico.

On the Ohio scene: With 31 seconds to play, Walter Stovall hit a field goal to squeeze Central State past West Virginia State, 72-71.

Alliance (Pa.) took its sixth straight victory, 60-58 over Youngstown after the Penguins held a 58-55 tie in the closing minutes.

Steubenville poured on the points to beat Quincy (Ill.), 111-69, with John Blanda pacing the winning Barons with 27.

High School Cage Poll

Canton Gains In AA; Van Del Again Tops A

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Soft-spoken John Namciu is gradually tugging the Trojans of Canton Timken toward the high school basketball heights.

Coach Kenny Tate's unbeaten boys started the season in tenth place in the Associated Press poll, eased up to seventh for a couple of weeks, and today climbed to fifth with a 13-0 record.

Namciu, a 6-3 senior, is one of the big reasons. He clipped all kinds of records Saturday night when he poured 54 points into the hoop as Timken trampled Ravenna 88-46, boosting his 13-game average to 29.8 and his four-year career total to 1,289.

Namciu gets a chance to show his wares against unbeaten Lakewood this Saturday night. Lakewood is rated fourth, a notch ahead of Timken, and a Trojan triumph could move 'em up another peg.

Dayton Roosevelt, with 15 in a row, clung to the top spot in the Class AA ratings today as 41 sports editors participated in the poll. Defending champion Cleveland East Tech stayed in second place, and Salem's state title runnerup Waukeers held third.

Only one personnel change occurred in the Top Ten, Ashland dropping out as it lost to Wooster, and Pomeroy moving into tenth with a 14-0 mark.

Van Del and Salem Local continued their close scrap for the peak in Class A, with Van Del getting this week's nod. A week

Chamberlain Continues on Record Spree

NEW YORK (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain, the Philadelphia Warriors 7-foot 1-inch rookie who is making a shambles of scoring records in the National Basketball Assn. this year, needs only 195 points to break Bob Pettit's season scoring mark, NBA statistics showed today.

Chamberlain, leading the league with 38.2 points per game average and in total points with 1,911, could surpass Pettit's mark of 2,105 this weekend if he continues his pace of last week. Wilt the Stilt scored 230 points in five games through last Sunday, a rousing 48 point average.

Pettit, who set the record last season, his fifth in the league, is third in scoring with 1,323 for a 28.5 average. Jack Twyman of Cincinnati continues in second place with a 30.9 mark on 1,698 in 55 games, five more than either Chamberlain or Pettit.

Chamberlain also helped set a league record when he scored 58 points in a game against Detroit last week, the fifth time this season a player has scored more than 50 in a single game.

With more than two-thirds of the season completed, the scoring average in the league is 114.6 per team, per game, compared to last year's previous high of 106.2.

In the only game Monday night, the Philadelphia Warriors defeated the Minneapolis Lakers 103-96 at Los Angeles, their sixth victory in seven games.

Lucas Leads Scoring

In Big 10 Statistics
CHICAGO (AP)—Jerry Lucas, Ohio State sophomore, leads all scorers in the Big Ten all-game basketball scoring race with a 27.0 average.

Lucas has 405 points in 15 games while Purdue's Terry Dischinger has 402 in 15 games and a 26.8 average.

ago the Salem team, from Urbana, topped the smaller school list by five poll points after taking the lead from the Van Wert County club. Today Van Del was ahead by three points, 187 to 184, or the equivalent of an eighth-place vote on one of the 41 ballots.

The two leaders have 15-game winning streaks going, and right behind them are Northwestern of Wayne County, Carthage-Troy and Ayersville, all with 17-0 records.

Only change in Class A came when Edgerton's defending champions, marred by five defeats, fell out of the listings and Lykens (15-) moved in.

Tournament time is here. First of the Class A county eliminations, the Preble County 11-team event, opens Friday at the Civic Auditorium in Richmond, Ind. Preble County doesn't have a site big enough to handle the crowds, so Indiana gets Ohio's opening feature.

Cincy Keeps No. 1 Rating

Bradley Still Second In Collegiate Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Cincinnati's refusal to crack against The Citadel last Friday night, after a scare by Duquesne the previous Saturday, has solidly entrenched the Bearcats as the nation's No. 1 basketball team today.

The latest Associated Press poll of sportswriters and broadcasters gives Cincy 1,612 points, based on 10 for first, nine for second, eight for third, etc. This is 222 more than second-place Bradley, which had to go into overtime to beat Marquette Saturday night.

The Bearcats are also way ahead in first place votes, getting 90, 14 more than a week ago. The nearest team is fourth-place Ohio State, which polled 32.

California (16-1), is right on Bradley's heels in points, with 1,304.

Ohio State replaced West Virginia in fourth place, with the after their surprising 94-86 upset by Southern Conference foe William & Mary. It was their first conference loss after 56 consecutive victories.

The top ten teams with first place votes in parentheses:

1. Cincinnati (90)	(15-1)	1612
2. Bradley (18)	(14-1)	1390

Booster Club To Junior High Grid

Booster Club To Buy Jackets; Junior High Grid Discussed

Officers and directors of the Circleville Booster Club took action on several projects and programs during a monthly meeting held last night at the high school.

One of the first items of business was an affirmative vote to purchase new jackets for Coach John Current's wrestling team.

The Boosters agreed to buy 11 jackets for the mat squad, now in its second season here. The coats will cost about $10 each.

Another discussion was held on initiating junior high school football here. Grid Coach Carl Benhase presented copies of an extensive survey he conducted of junior high football in the other South Central Ohio League schools.

GREENFIELD, Hillsboro, Washington C. H. and Wilmington all have had junior high grid programs for at least 10 years. Greenfield has followed its program for 25 years.

The survey showed Greenfield and Wilmington rated their junior high programs excellent. Hillsboro and Washington C. H. evaluated theirs as fair due to the need for more coaches and better organization.

The local Booster Club has launched a campaign to bring junior high football to Circleville. The plan is slated to go before the Circleville Board of Education tonight. According to Booster spokesmen, several problems will have to be ironed out before the program can be initiated here successfully.

In other business, the club set April 9 as the date for the annual Basketball and Wrestling Ban-

Pilot Says Bosox To Be Improved

By BILLY JURGES
ANNANDALE, Va. (AP)—I believe the Boston Red Sox have improved their position since the close of the 1959 season and I think we will give an interesting account of ourselves in 1960. If I think about the Red Sox chances for the pennant I will not do that thinking out loud.

The Red Sox were a much better team in the second half of last season than they were in the first half. The team played .550 ball after I became manager, winning 44 and losing 36. That pace would have captured third place in the final standings if it could have been maintained throughout the season.

Our club was busy in the trading market during the winter. We acquired six players from other big league clubs and I feel certain they'll all help us. We got pitcher Dave Hillman, first baseman Jimmy Marshall and outfielder Bobby Thomson from the Cubs; first baseman Ron Jackson from the White Sox; pitcher Tom Sturdivant from the Athletics and infielder Ray Webster, from the Indians.

Everybody I've talked with thinks Hillman can win in the American League. Sturdivant was supposed to have had arm trouble. He pitched normally as far as I could see in the closing games of last season. And if his arm is okay, he will be a big help.

We do not know definitely what our outfield will be this year. We have three fine extra outfielders I could use without hurting our cause too much. They are Gene Stephens, Marty Keough and Gary Geiger who would love to play regularly. But we also have such as Ted Williams and Thomson.

If we do not play Jackson at first base, Pete Runnels can do an excellent job there and he has proved his hitting ability. Pete would have to be given the edge for second base although Pumpsie Green showed me plenty of ability last summer. Frank Malzone leaves little to be desired as a third baseman. He is the best in the league. I am counting on Don Buddin to prove his shortstop ability this year.

Sammy White proved himself as the best defensive catcher in the league. We will pick a second string catcher from a group of five we will have in spring training.

I expect that young pitchers like Jerry Casale, Bill Monbouquette, Nelson Chittum, Ted Bousfield and Tom Borland will improve the staff which will have Frank Sullivan, Tom Brewer and Ike Deloc along with Hillman and Sturdivant.

I repeat what I have said before—this should be an interesting year for American League fans.

Next—Walter Alston, Los Angeles Dodgers.

Buckeyes Point For Big 10 Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ohio State's Buckeyes, apparently on their way to the Big Ten basketball title, scored an easy 99-52 triumph over Michigan Monday night.

While the Buckeyes were measuring Michigan, defending champion Michigan State bested second-place Minnesota 84-63, and Indiana downed Northwestern 76-58.

Ohio State now has a 6-0 conference record and Minnesota is 5-3. Illinois, in third place, is the only other team with less than three losses and the Illini have a 3-2 record.

Myers Leads County Scoring; Walters Narrows Margin

Darby's Tommy Walters sliced into the margin held by Pickaway County scoring leader David Myers by ½ a point.

The Williamsport ace held onto his scoring leadership for the tenth straight week with a 25.1 average, but saw his lead narrowed as Walters dumped in 32 points Friday night to increase his average to 24.4 points per game.

A repeat of last year could be in store for the Deercreek mainstay. After trailing in third and fourth place all year, Saltcreek's Gary Valentine closed out the season with 52 points against Good Hope and captured the title.

Ashville's Bobby Hoover protected his third place spot with a 22.1 average. Ronnie Morris, Atlanta center, held onto fourth position on the basis of a 20.9 average.

IN FACT there were no changes in the top ten as Tom Harber, Walnut, held fifth with a 19.2 average; Darby's Tommy Liff (18.2) was in sixth;

Robertson Is Calm in Hero's Role

CINCINNATI (AP) — Through high school and college, All-America Oscar Robertson has amassed a file cabinet load of honors, awards and scoring records in school, conference, arena, state and NCAA play.

When he swept past the three-year scoring record for major college players Monday night, Oscar was quiet, unemotional. It was one mark among many.

It was a good night for Oscar. He scored 36 points; he and his teammates beat Drake handily, 96-61; his mother was on hand and so was the girl he plans to marry next summer.

He started the game needing only four points to break the mark of 2,538 points set by Frank Selvy after 78 games with Furman, ending in 1954. He had the four points after 5½ minutes.

If Robertson is explosive on the basketball floor, he is conversationally thrifty in the locker room. The Calvin Coolidge of college basketball had little to say after the game.

"You really set the record in great style, Oscar," said one fan. "Thanks."

"How do you feel about setting a new three-year scoring record, Oscar?"

"How would you feel?"

"Were you any more nervous about going into this game than in any other game?" asked a reporter.

"Naw, never felt any different."

Monroe's Steve Fullen (17.7) seventh; Ashville's Tom Rathburn (16.7) eighth; Monroe's Larry Bigam (16.2) ninth, and Jackson's Robert Eitel tenth with a 14.1 average.

Few county leaders, gained in average except Walters, while Harber, Bigam and Morris raised their averages one or two tenths of a point.

Eitel and Liff dropped one-half point from their averages. Other leading county scorers were the Red Raiders' Tommy Oyer, 12.4; Pickaway's Ralph England, 12.5; Saltcreek's Denny Valentine, 13.5; Walnut's Gary Hoover, 13.5, and Scioto's Roy Sanders and Bill Hoover with 12.3 and 13 averages respectively.

Still leading area scorers was Sonny Harrison, the Centralia bombshell, with a 22.8 average. Kingston's Dave Nogle held second with a 19.1 average.

Other top point-makers were Bobby Sells (17.2), Stoutsville; Bill Carmean (15.3) and Danny Vollmar (13.6), Kingston, and Larry Keck (17.4) and Max Young (14.5), Laurelville.

Boom Is Tied To Building, Autos, Steel

February Is Seen As Month To See How Keys Are Working

NEW YORK (AP) — Autos and steel and construction hold the key today as to how long the present boom will keep going strong. And fickle February may be the month when the economy finds out how the key is working.

If the new car models sell well, the auto companies will be ordering steel for some time ahead. This, added to steel demand from other manufacturers, will keep the mills going for months. If auto sales lag, the steel mills will be able to rebuild the inventories of other manufacturers faster than first thought.

Construction shows two faces. Home building faltered for a time, with tight money being the reason mostly given. Then it picked up sharply at the end of the year.

The other face, commercial and industrial building, is tied largely to plans of business to expand. And just how much of this will take the form of firm construction orders is yet to be seen.

Much depends on how customers buy—whether consumers will take finished products in volume, whether manufacturers will take this as a cue to increase production capacity.

February usually starts out in uncertainty.

There is groundhog day for those who look for some sign as to whether the weather will favor their enterprises. It plays a big role in business. There's the uncertainty about how much February's weather tantrums may upset industrial production and distribution or keep customers at home and out of the stores.

And stock traders will be watching February for signs the long January price fall may end or be reversed.

Outside the stock market, most of the business world enters February in good shape.

Production, incoming orders, and profit prospects were markedly on the upswing. The Labor Department is sure that employment will go on increasing for some time. Just catching up with orders stymied when steel supplies were cut off in the long strike should assure that.

There's little doubt that February will be a busy month. The only uncertainty is whether future prospects will justify a continuing flood of new orders. If these start falling off in February, the business forecasters may shorten the time when they expect the current boom to start slowing down.

Daddy Grace's Tax Bill Said $6 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service announced today it is claiming that nearly six million dollars in back taxes and assessments were owed by Charles M. (Sweet Daddy) Grace.

Liens were filed against properties which the Negro evangelist owned in 13 states and the District of Columbia.

Grace, founder of the "House of Prayer for All People" with a claimed following of three million died in Los Angeles Jan. 12.

IRS said it is filing the liens to protect its claim that Daddy Grace owed taxes for the years 1945 through 1956. The precise claim is $5,966,000.

Liens were filed in Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Connecticut, New York, Massachusetts, Ohio, New Jersey, Florida and Michigan.

No other details on the action were immediately available.

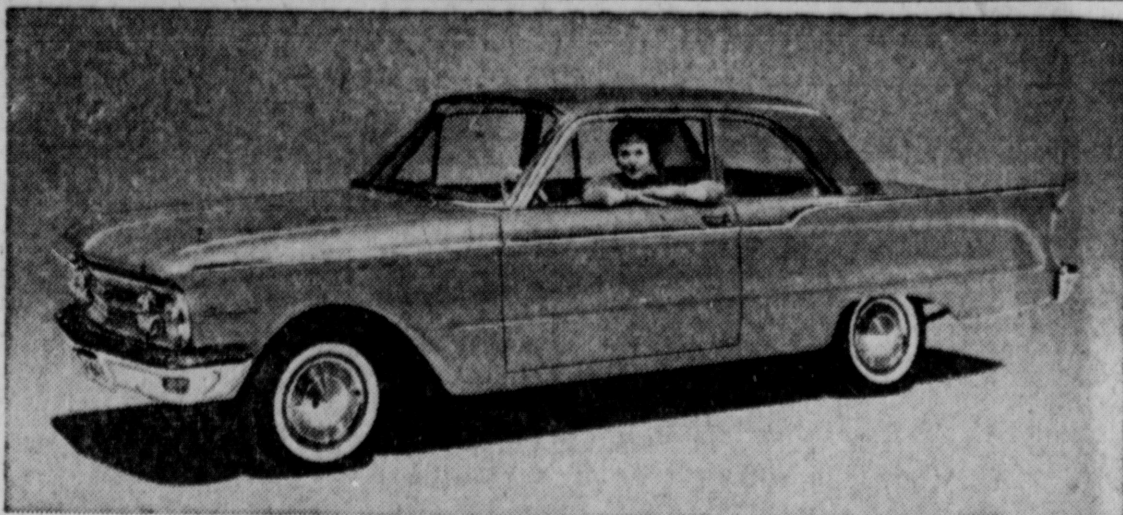

Meanwhile, in New Bedford, Mass., a Boston attorney said he is investigating reports Grace had $80,000 on his body when he died. No such amount was found on the body.

Attorney Roy F. Teixeira said this is one of many financial tangles involving the evangelist, who founded and headed the House of Prayer for All People.

The value of the evangelist's estate has been estimated at up to 25 million dollars, most of it in gifts from his three million followers in 350 churches and 60 cities.

Booming Clermont County Seeks Growing Pains Balm

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP) — Some are businessmen or factory workers or weekend farmers, but they are migrating to Clermont County in record numbers. They're hunting elbow room for their families.

The county is called the fastest growing residential area in the state. In the last five years its population went up 56 per cent.

A severe case of growing pains has accompanied this rapid expansion. Now they're trying remedies—strict planning and zoning rules.

County commissioners, trying to administer the remedies quickly, have set up new planning rules.

They appointed a planning commission to curtail any new mushroom growth of home building.

The commissioners want new zoning rules, too, but they must be approved in next November's election.

Up to this month the growth of building in the county was like Topsy in Uncle Tom's cabin—without any supervision. Some houses are about as outdated as Tom's cabin.

The result is that some who move here find themselves the victims of unscrupulous real estate operators, contractors and land owners.

A. E. Suro, executive director of the new planning commission, said that on a deed, a house and lot may appear less expensive than similar property in Hamilton County.

He said: "But when you add to that the cost of street assessments, high sewer and water rates other utility expenditures, the overall cost is about the same."

"Also, you may not have equal police and fire protection and waste collection services as are available in a metropolitan area."

Here's one result of haphazard earlier planning: There are now 300 streets in the county with duplicate names. There are 12 Apple streets alone.

To add to confusion, there are 125 dead end streets. Some subdividers made them that way on purpose—leaving a foot or more of land around each subdivision. They keep ownership of this little strip of land.

Suro said: "In this way the contractor can prevent anyone from extending a street or of putting any other houses in the immediate area without someone paying a premium for this foot of land."

Another trick is to sell acreage that fronts on a main or secondary street. The owner advertises: "Selling acre lots at low cost." The lots turn out to be 50 feet wide and 1,300 feet to a half mile deep.

Suro said: "Instead of putting in a street so that the lots could be cut in half with 100 foot frontages and about half as deep, the landowner unloads the entire tract in 50 foot pieces at no cost to himself."

The planning commission is attempting to block such land-butchering by ordering each contractor to submit detailed sketches of subdivisions for approval before they can be started.

The county is still powerless to regulate types of houses or to zone areas. One township has a zoning board and several villages have some restrictions.

But without zoning anyone can move next door to your home and set up a slaughter house, blast furnace junk yard or other undesirable operation.

New planning rules went into effect this month, but do not affect builders who put up a single house.

Suro said many people moving here from Cincinnati are unaware there are no zoning restrictions.

Pickaway County Farm Bureau Adopts Policy Resolutions

The Pickaway County Farm Bureau, Inc. Saturday adopted 18 resolutions pertaining to local, state and national affairs at its annual meeting held in the County Fairgrounds' Coliseum.

The resolutions were prepared by a Farm Bureau committee headed by Lawrence Liston, 151 Watt St. These resolutions state the local Farm Bureau's policy on civic matters plus other policies or problems that it opposes or approves.

Resolutions pertaining to local matters are: 1. There be a limit of six subscribers to one telephone line; 2. The Farm Bureau continue to cooperate with other organizations to provide information on rural zoning;

Also to offer specific assistance to those townships which desire to establish rural zoning. The Bureau also believes that county-wide zoning would be more efficient;

3. TOWNSHIP Trustees provide, maintain and operate facilities for the disposal of garbage and refuse; 4. Farm Bureau continue its efforts toward establishment of a qualified health department in the county; 5. Promote better rural-urban relations, and 6. Oppose the shooting of Bobwhite quails.

State resolutions are: 7. An equitable method be found to secure adequate taxes from trailer courts. It suggests that the trailer spaces should be appraised individually as city lots and taxed accordingly;

8. School building codes be revised to provide for more economical construction; 9. Oppose reapportionment of the Ohio General Assembly;

10. Oppose titling and licensing of farm equipment; 11. The Ohio tax structure be given thorough study, looking toward sources of revenue other than real estate;

12. The law concerning control of noxious weeds, especially Johnsson Grass and Canadian Thistle, be enforced.

13. TRESPASSERS should assume their own liability; 14. Eastern Standard Time be fixed permanently for this time belt;

15. The State Fair should not be abolished, and 16. A study should be made, looking toward the establishment of water rights in Ohio.

National resolutions are: 17. Favor moving toward less government control in agriculture and 18. all federal government owned land be removed from production of surplus commodities.

One resolution was defeated. It stated, "The Government should freeze the price of steel at the present levels. "It was disapproved when one Farm Bureau member asked why one segment of society should be frozen and not another just as dangerous.

He was referring to freezing the price of labor. Most of the resolutions were shaped from suggestions from the county councils.

Hoffa Aims Biggest Guns At Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President James R. Hoffa of the Teamsters Union is spending his Sundays stirring up opposition in Wisconsin and other states to the presidential aspirations of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.).

Hoffa is opposed to every member of Congress who voted last year for the new labor control law — he calls it the Kennedy-Landrum-Griffin Act. But Kennedy, a leading candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, is Hoffa's prime target.

Hoffa said in an interview it is too early to say who the Teamsters Union might favor for president in either party, although he's busy picking and choosing among congressional candidates.

He indicated his special opposition to Kennedy is two-fold. First, he blames Kennedy for the new labor law. Second, the senator's brother, Robert Kennedy, as counsel for the Senate Labor-Management Committee, kept Hoffa uncomfortably busy the equivalent of two months as a witness.

"I just go out and tell the boys (Teamsters members) the truth, that's all — like the problems facing labor that Kennedy must accept responsibility for," Hoffa said.

12. The law concerning control of noxious weeds, especially Johnson Grass and Canadian Thistle, be enforced.

13. TRESPASSERS should assume their own liability; 14. Eastern Standard Time be fixed permanently for this time belt;

15. The State Fair should not be abolished, and 16. A study should be made, looking toward the establishment of water rights in Ohio.

National resolutions are: 17. Favor moving toward less government control in agriculture and 18. all federal government owned land be removed from production of surplus commodities.

One resolution was defeated. It stated, "the Government should freeze the price of steel at the present levels. "It was disapproved when one Farm Bureau member asked why one segment of society should be freed and not another just as dangerous.

He was referring to freezing the price of labor. Most of the resolutions were shaped from suggestions from the county councils.

Farm Problem in Muddle

Temper of the present Congress is unlikely to veer toward a positive approach to the problems of farmers, but it should be obvious to all that present regulation of farms by government edicts is hardly effective in putting agriculture back on a sound footing.

Directives which tell the farmer how much of which type of crops he may grow, what land he may grow it on, how much of the grain he needs for his own livestock he may grow and how much he must buy, and how much he may charge for the crops he does manage to grow and sell, have created an agricultural stench.

Exposures of grafters, cheats and outright thieves who have been milking the farm giveaway programs without giving anything in return are growing.

How classify instances such as the one brought to light by Sen. John Williams of Delaware concerning soil bank payments to three children, all under 12 years of age, for not farming land deeded to them by their father in an apparently successful ruse to get around the limit of $5,000 for any one family per year? These children will now get $50,000 under a 10-year contract for not doing something they couldn't have done anyway.

There is also the report from the General Accounting Office that $270 million will be paid out in the next five years for land "retired" into the soil bank program which has never been successful in producing crops.

The soil bank program was designed to pay farmers for voluntarily withdrawing land from their production acreage, to conserve good farm land and at the same time reduce the over-abundance of major farm crops.

Instead of solving the plight of the farmer, the nation's agricultural programs seem better designed to disprove the old adage that you don't get something for nothing. No truer example of the consequences of government bureaus meddling in operation of economic forces could be produced.

Broadway Star, No Freedom

NEW YORK (AP)—Ever yearn for the glamorous life of a Broadway star?

"Actually, a housewife has more freedom," said Mary Martin. "I don't get to go out anywhere."

"I've been out exactly three times since last August. And I never get to see anyone except my family and the people I work with. No housewife would put up with a life like that."

The curly-haired, vivacious singer, now starring in the musical "The Sound of Music," her seventh top role on Broadway, leads a Spartan existence for only one reason. She feels it enables her to do a better job, and "it's no fun to perform unless you can perform at your peak."

Mary has learned the only way to do that is to stick to a rigorous routine.

Every morning she sings while standing on her head. She also dons boxing gloves and ploughs into a punching bag with both fists.

"I don't do anything but take care of myself," she remarked. "I eat very carefully. I take three vitamin pills, each the size of a football. On matinee days I keep up my strength with honey and cheese. The sugar in the honey gives quick energy, and the protein in the cheese makes it last."

"The most important thing in the world if you want to stay happy is to stay healthy. I used to think everything was mental. But, by golly, I've found if you keep your body healthy, you don't have to worry about your mind. It'll be healthy, too."

"But it's not a simple thing to stay healthy. You have to use discipline in eating, in drinking—in everything you do. Discipline is a bore, but it pays off."

Mary relaxes by reading—she skimmed through James Michener's big novel "Hawaii" in three nights—painting and doing petit point.

She brings to her personal living the same tomboy gaiety she displays with such verve on the stage. She believes in "a sunshine life" and doesn't pine to play tragic roles.

She and her husband, producer Richard Halliday, have bought a 1,100-acre farm in Brazil.

"It's a real working farm," she said. "It's primarily a coffee plantation. But there isn't anything that won't grow there except salt."

"We feel the farm is a kind of insurance policy. But we don't plan to retire at all—unless we collapse."

Popularity Is the Payoff

We are different—very different. Our candidates must be widely popular. They cannot depend upon the mathematics of proportional representation to assist them. They cannot depend upon seniority to reach the top. They cannot even use murder and assassination to elevate themselves. They must be widely popular, first within each man's own party and finally among the people.

The Republican problem has solved itself. Richard Nixon is the only Republican candidate. He will be nominated. The Republican problem at the National Convention will be to find a Vice President and curiously few candidates present themselves for that office.

The Democratic situation is different. It is now a race between Senator John Kennedy and Senator Lyndon Johnson. These two, of all the candidates, have emerged to the top. Most of the others who keep their names aglow are hoping that Kennedy and Johnson will become tied and that after many ballots, Symington or Stevenson will emerge as a compromise. Others are aspiring to the Vice Presidency. There are Democrats who favor Adlai Stevenson or Dean Acheson for Secretary of State for which no one runs and from which a prudent man would seek escape, things being as they are.

Senators Kennedy and Johnson are not the two ends of a pole. Lyndon Johnson is, of course, regarded as the more conservative. He comes from Texas as did President Eisenhower. His experience in the Congress has been long: He was a member of the House of Representatives from 1937 to 1949 when he was elected to the Senate. Prior to being elected to the House of Representatives, he was Secretary to Representative Richard M. Kleberg of Texas. This has given him a 26 year experience with Congress of which he is now the leader of the majority. His age is 51.

Senator John Fitzgerald Kennedy has also served in the House of Representatives for six years and has been in the Senate since 1953, giving him an experience in Congress of 13 years. He is 42 years old.

Neither Johnson nor Kennedy has had administrative experience but both have been very close to the operations of government.

As a matter of fact, because of the peculiar condition that President Eisenhower has had to work with a Democratic Congress, the President had to depend greatly upon Lyndon Johnson to protect the Administration's legislative program. In this President Eisenhower faced the same circumstance which so belated the second half of President Hoover's Administration, but with the difference that whereas the Democrats in the Hoover Administration put party above country, Lyndon Johnson served his country first of all. Many Democrats have criticized Lyndon Johnson for this attitude, but it has served the country well in our present difficulties. A divided nation, while Soviet Russia is fighting us on all, but the military fronts could have had tragic consequences.

John Kennedy has a measure of Liberal support because of his closeness to certain labor elements, particularly Walter Reuther of the United Automobile Workers Union. Johnson will find support among Democratic regulars, among conservatives and among those Democrats who are not ready to vote for a Roman Catholic for President.

The latter issue is increasing in its sinister connotations, as much as everybody on all sides and in all parties seeks to fight down religious politics. Those who continue to keep the issue active are unjust to all the candidates. No man wants to be elected with the smear of bigotry upon his record. Lyndon Johnson in his Brooklyn speech went out of his way to establish his opposition to bigotry, particularly anti-Catholic bigotry. John Kennedy said very cleverly at the Al Smith Memorial Dinner that he did not object to Nelson Rockefeller because he is a Protestant.

This issue will one day be settled by a Catholic being elected President. After all, Benjamin Disraeli, Lord Beaconsfield (1804-1881), was born a Jew and although a convert to the Anglican Church, never dissociated himself from his Jewishness. There have been several Jewish Premiers of France. In an age of religious enlightenment and tolerance, it is very difficult to understand why the issue of a man's religion should arise at all. In the present campaign, religious bigotry is presenting itself in its most ugly aspects. The literature on the subject is disgusting.

And this is where the canvass stands now.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle and President Eisenhower have in common a remarkable quality which has served them well in critical moments. It is restraint.

With great calmness and self-confidence De Gaulle has just smashed the greatest threat to his presidency and the continued existence of the French Republic: The revolt in Algiers.

Eisenhower, without fireworks and practically without raising his voice, has handled one crisis and peril after another during his seven years in the White House.

Where do they get this quality of restraint? There are several factors, of course. For instance their individual characters and philosophies; the fact that both grew up in a Democratic tradition. But there seem to be others. Perhaps, because both had gained so much self-assurance as military leaders, neither felt it necessary to prove his strength or toughness by belligerency when faced with crises in their political careers. They had become used to crises.

Unlike politicians whose prestige was derived from their office Eisenhower and De Gaulle had built up a huge backlog of public confidence in themselves as military men.

Both therefore were in a position to rely on their prestige outweighing and finally ending in their favor the problem that faced them.

Without such pre-political prestige, and the self-assurance acquired long before, they might have felt it necessary to assert their power by force when confronted with a challenge to their political authority.

This may explain in part why two such political monsters as Hitler and Mussolini depended upon force for their solutions and made a religion of military action.

Neither of them came to power through previous military prestige but, in fact, had only humble and insignificant military careers.

Unless there is another war, future De Gaulles and Eisenhowers are apt to be few and far between if only because the kind of prestige they got can come to military men only in war.

It is easy to recall some of Eisenhower's demonstrations of restraint.

The first was soon after he took office in 1953 and Sen. Joseph McCarthy attacked him. McCarthy, in pitting himself against Eisenhower, was relying on what he thought was the prestige he had won as a Communist hunter.

Eisenhower could have fought back. Instead, he depended on public confidence in him and let his aides challenge McCarthy in a public showdown which steadily and surely eroded McCarthy.

Again Eisenhower, despite the provocations of Egyptian President Nasser, avoided the possibility of world war by stopping in a hurry the British-French invasion of Egypt.

The Red Chinese became a steady irritant with their attacks on the outposts of Formosa. Eisenhower stood firm, without belligerency, and the Chinese quieted down.

Atherosclerosis Is Studied

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Today is National Heart Research Day. So I think it would be timely to discuss one of the many heart research problems on which scientists are now working.

Preventing or curbing atherosclerosis has been the target of much research for many, many years.

Atherosclerosis is a disease which thickens (narrows) arteries and often sets the stage for strokes and heart attacks.

Now many persons with artery disease or heart attacks are found to have abnormally high levels of cholesterol and other fatty substances in the blood. Cholesterol is a fatty substance that is found in many foods and also is manufactured in the body.

Because it is found in so many persons with heart trouble, many of us believe that cholesterol contributes to these difficulties. Abnormal blood levels of this substance, they say, is evidence that atherosclerosis is present or is developing.

However, it is generally recognized that there is no definite proof that high levels of fat in the blood are a direct cause of heart attacks or artery disease.

Despite this difference of opinion among medical men, both drugs and dietary measures have been developed to lower cholesterol levels.

One drug, developed last year, is triparanol. It apparently blocks the body's manufacture of cholesterol at one stage in the complex processes through which it is synthesized.

In one test of 50 persons it brought an average drop in cholesterol levels of about 40 per cent.

Another drug called cholesterol inhibitor produced "a striking drop" in cholesterol levels, but prolonged testing was ruled out because the drug also caused stomach and intestinal upsets.

Therefore, further research was planned to develop a similar drug which did not have such side effects.

Now all this research is to develop drugs to combat a condition which may not even have a bearing on heart disease.

Another study of 2,500 persons living in Manhattan and Staten Island, N. Y., reported that heredity is far more important than environment in determining the level of cholesterol.

All of these studies and all of this research are necessary steps in

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle and President Eisenhower have in common a remarkable quality which has served them well in critical moments. It is restraint.

With great calmness and self-confidence De Gaulle has just smashed the greatest threat to his presidency and the continued existence of the French Republic: The revolt in Algiers.

Eisenhower, without fireworks and practically without raising his voice, has handled one crisis and peril after another during his seven years in the White House.

Where do they get this quality of restraint? There are several factors, of course. For instance their individual characters and philosophies; the fact that both grew up in a Democratic tradition. But there seem to be others. Perhaps, because both had gained so much self-assurance as military leaders, neither felt it necessary to prove his strength or toughness by belligerency when faced with crises in their political careers. They had become used to crises.

Unlike politicians whose prestige was derived from their office, Eisenhower and De Gaulle had built up a huge backlog of public confidence in themselves as military men.

Both therefore were in a position to rely on their prestige outweighing and finally ending in their favor the problem that faced them.

Without such pre-political prestige, and the self-assurance acquired long before, they might have felt it necessary to assert their power by force when confronted with a challenge to their political authority.

This may explain in part why two such political monsters as Hitler and Mussolini depended upon force for their solutions and made a religion of military action.

Neither of them came to power through previous military prestige but, in fact, had only humble and insignificant military careers.

Unless there is another war, future De Gaulles and Eisenhowers are apt to be few and far between if only because the kind of prestige they got can come to military men only in war.

It is easy to recall some of Eisenhower's demonstrations of restraint.

The first was soon after he took office in 1953 and Sen. Joseph McCarthy attacked him. McCarthy, in pitting himself against Eisenhower, was relying on what he thought was the prestige he had won as a Communist hunter.

Eisenhower could have fought back. Instead, he depended on public confidence in him and let his aides challenge McCarthy in a public showdown which steadily and surely eroded McCarthy.

Again Eisenhower, despite the provocations of Egyptian President Nasser, avoided the possibility of world war by stopping in a hurry the British-French invasion of Egypt.

The Red Chinese became a steady irritant with their attacks on the outposts of Formosa. Eisenhower stood firm, without belligerency, and the Chinese quieted down.

Atherosclerosis Is Studied

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.
Today is National Heart Research Day. So I think it would be timely to discuss one of the many heart research problems on which scientists are now working.

Preventing or curbing atherosclerosis has been the target of much research for many, many years.

Atherosclerosis is a disease which thickens (narrows) arteries and often sets the stage for strokes and heart attacks.

Now many persons with artery disease or heart attacks are found to have abnormally high levels of cholesterol and other fatty substances in the blood. Cholesterol is a fatty substance that is found in many foods and also is manufactured in the body.

Because it is found in so many persons with heart trouble, many of us believe that cholesterol contributes to these difficulties. Abnormal blood levels of this substance, they say, is evidence that atherosclerosis is present or is developing.

However, it is generally recognized that there is no definite proof that high levels of fat in the blood are a direct cause of heart attacks or artery disease.

Despite this difference of opinion among medical men, both drugs and dietary measures have been developed to lower cholesterol levels.

One drug, developed last year, is triparanol. It apparently blocks the body's manufacture of cholesterol at one stage in the complex processes through which it is synthesized.

In one test of 50 persons it brought an average drop in cholesterol levels of about 40 per cent.

Another drug called cholesterol inhibitor, benzmaleone, reportedly produced "a striking drop" in cholesterol levels, but prolonged testing was ruled out because the drug also caused stomach and intestinal upsets.

Therefore, further research was planned to develop a similar drug which did not have such side effects.

Now all this research is to develop drugs to combat a condition which may not even have a bearing on heart disease.

Another study of 2,500 persons living in Manhattan and Staten Island, N. Y., reported that heredity is far more important than environment in determining the level of cholesterol.

All of these studies and all of this research are necessary steps in

Mrs. Poling Is Candidate For 'Woman of the Year'

MRS. STERLING POLING

Members of the Circleville Junior Women's Club has selected Mrs. Sterling (Martha) Poling as a candidate for the Outstanding Woman of the Year. This award is to be made on the state level in February and is sponsored by the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs.

Contestants, however, need not be members of the organization to be eligible. This will be the first year the award has been made. Formerly, the award was made to the "Family of the Year."

Mrs. Poling lives with her husband and two children, Drexel, 13, and Lorna, 10, on Route 4 in Saltcreek Twp. She was born in New Holland and attended grade school and high school in Atlanta. Mrs. Poling is entered in the contest in the status of homemaker. She makes and also designs most of her own clothes and many of the children's. As a cook, she is probably best known for her cakes, bread, mincemeat pies and relishes. She says she inherited her talent for frying chicken from her mother. The family garden provides food for canning, freezing, pickling and preserving. On the walls of her home are a number of her oil paintings. She also makes the family Christmas cards.

Church work has occupied many hours of Mrs. Poling's time. The Polings are members of the Circleville Methodist Church. She helps with the MYF and teaches a young adult class. The whole family has just completed a year of perfect Sunday School attendance.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Poling have been active in the Parent-Teachers Organization and have worked for their local school. Mrs. Poling was chairman and delegate of the Logan Elm district to the State House Conference on Education in 1958. She also served on the Interim Committee of delegates from all over Ohio.

Girl Scouts have also taken much of Mrs. Poling's time. She has been a Cub Scout Den mother and is now a Brownie troop leader. She is a member of the Board of Directors for the Ohio Trefoil Council and is Registrar and Camp Site Chairman for Camp Miska.

She has been active in many other organizations on the local and state level. She is secretary to the Executive Committee in charge of the Pickaway County Sesquicentennial observance; has been a committee member of the Community Fund; was first president of the Pickaway County Association of Women's Clubs; is vice-president of the Circleville Forum; and corresponding secretary to the General Guild of Berger Hospital; and a member of the DAR. Mrs. Poling has been active in 4-H and is presently compiling a county history of 4-H work. She was instrumental in organizing the local Newcomers' Club and the Saltcreek Town and Country Club. She is service chairman of the Pumpkin Show department which includes home arts and crafts. From 1955-1958 she was editor of the "Buckeye."

Young Friendship Class Slates Record Hop

The January meeting of the Young Friendship Class of the Five Points Methodist Church was held Saturday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Redman with supper preceding the meeting.

The president opened the meeting with Mrs. Redman reading a poem "Advice to Adults".

The secretary and treasurer reports were read and approved. New by-laws were read, discussed and then approved.

Mrs. Redman was elected chairman of the flower and card committee.

A money making project was discussed with everyone agreeing on a record hop to be held sometime in March.

February 20th was the date set for Sweethearts night out, to be held at the Everglades, Columbus.

At the close of the meeting the group played the game "The Museum of the Hidden Treasure".

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dick, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dawson and son Pat, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Everman and daughter, Letitia, and the hosts Mr. and Mrs. Redman, Cathy and Ricky.

Youth Rally At Chillicothe

Approximately 225 members of the Youth Fellowship from the Laurelville Church of God and the Chillicothe and Gorton Run Church of God, Chillicothe, were present at a Youth Rally held Thursday evening in Chillicothe.

Bible readings were given by Judy Hardman and prayer was led by Judy Radabaugh. Bob Johnson read a Bible Story followed by readings from Janet Johnston and Paulette Richendollar.

A song entitled "I Don't Know about Tomorrow" was presented by Judy Radabaugh, Donna Hardman, Eva Jean Ralston and Janice Mills.

Eva Jean Ralston led the group in singing two numbers. Members of the Gorton Run and the Chillicothe Youth presented two numbers.

The young people were assisted by George Wiggins and Mrs. Donald Hardman, who substituted for her son, Jimmy.

Following the devotional period a short talk was given by the Rev. Ralph Price. Concluding the program members assembled in the church basement for the social hour.

Chillicothe members were in charge of refreshments. The next meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, February 25, at the Laurelville Church of God.

Gorton Run and Chillicothe youth groups will be in charge of devotions. Laurelville members will lead the social hour and refreshments.

Logan Elm Club Meets at Moats

Members of Logan Elm Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Raymond Moats, Route 4, Thursday afternoon.

The meeting was opened with meditation given by Mrs. Moats followed by each member answering roll call by naming her favorite winter plant.

The regular business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Robert Bower. Mrs. Ruth Macklin showed slides to the club pertaining to "Staging Flower Shows."

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostess.

Meet Postponed

Members of the Christian Home Society of Christ Lutheran Lick Run Church have cancelled the February meeting which was scheduled at 7:30 p. m. tonight. The next meeting will be held in March.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Scare Her if Necessary

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 17 and, believe me, we are not square parents. But how can we convince her that we put down certain rules for her own good?

For instance, her father absolutely forbids her to park on a lonely road. She says all the kids do it and she is hurt because it looks like we don't trust her. We DO trust her, Abby. She has never given us reason to worry. But so many young people have been victims of sex maniacs and robbers who look for kids in isolated places. Do I dare frighten her with these facts? Can you put some advice into words to help us, Abby? I'm sure other parents have this problem.

MOM
DEAR MOM: If awakening her to reality is "frightening"—then I say, frighten her. Young couples parked in deserted places are set-ups for all kinds of criminals. All parents should alert their children to this growing danger.

DEAR ABBY: For nine years I have been married to a man who grinds his teeth in his sleep. I have been putting up with this like a good sport. But sometimes it gets so unbearable that I have to go sleep on the couch. He claims it is my imagination, but I know it isn't. Is there any cure for this? Maybe a dentist could help. Am I alone in my problem? Can't someone help me?

GRINDER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I don't know what a dentist could do, short of pulling all his teeth. Your only solution is to sleep apart or get used to the same old grind.

DEAR ABBY: All winter I bought bird seed and corn for the birds and squirrels. The people across the street have three big cats. These cats are always in my yard after the robins and baby squirrels. The cats have already killed two baby squirrels.

I told these people to keep their cats in their own yard, but they laugh in my face. They even watched their cat kill a baby robin and they thought it was a joke. Is there any protection for wild life or is it just for domestic pets?

SENIOR CITIZEN
DEAR CITIZEN: Your local S.P.C.A. should be notified. If there is none, call the police.

DEAR ABBY: Can a child born out of wedlock be christened? I have heard that it cannot.

NEED INFORMATION
DEAR NEED: You have heard wrong. A child born out of wedlock CAN be christened and special efforts are usually made to do so.

"What's your problem?" For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Young Friendship Class Slates Record Hop

The January meeting of the Young Friendship Class of the Five Points Methodist Church was held Saturday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Redman with supper preceding the meeting.

The president opened the meeting with Mrs. Redman reading a poem "Advice to Adults".

The secretary and treasurer reports were read and approved. New by-laws were read, discussed and then approved.

Mrs. Redman was elected chairman of the flower and card committee.

A money making project was discussed with everyone agreeing on a record hop to be held sometime in March.

February 20th was the date set for Sweethearts night out, to be held at the Everglades, Columbus.

At the close of the meeting the group played the game "The Museum of the Hidden Treasure".

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dick, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dawson and son Pat, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Everman and daughter, Letitia, and the hosts Mr. and Mrs. Redman, Cathy and Ricky.

Youth Rally At Chillicothe

Approximately 225 members of the Youth Fellowship from the Laureville Church of God and the Chillicothe and Gorton Run Church of God, Chillicothe, were present at a Youth Rally held Thursday evening in Chillicothe.

Bible readings were given by Judy Hardman and prayer was led by Judy Radabaugh. Bob Johnson read a Bible Story followed by readings from Janet Johnston and Paulette Richendollar.

A song entitled "I Don't Know about Tomorrow" was presented by Judy Radabaugh, Donna Hardman, Eva Jean Ralston and Janice Mills.

Eva Jean Ralston led the group in singing two numbers. Members of the Gorton Run and the Chillicothe Youth presented two numbers.

The young people were assisted by George Wiggins and Mrs. Donald Hardman, who substituted for her son, Jimmy.

Following the devotional period a short talk was given by the Rev. Ralph Price. Concluding the program members assembled in the church basement for the social hour.

Chillicothe members were in charge of refreshments. The next meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, February 25, at the Laureville Church of God.

Gorton Run and Chillicothe youth groups will be in charge of devotions. Laureville members will lead the social hour and refreshments.

Logan Elm Club Meets at Moats

Members of Logan Elm Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Raymond Moats, Route 4, Thursday afternoon.

The meeting was opened with meditation given by Mrs. Moats followed by each member answering roll call by naming her favorite winter plant.

The regular business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Robert Bower. Mrs. Ruth Macklin showed slides to the club pertaining to "Staging Flower Shows."

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostess.

Meet Postponed

Members of the Christian Home Society of Christ Lutheran Lick Run Church have cancelled the February meeting which was scheduled at 7:30 p. m. tonight. The next meeting will be held in March.

If you have trouble skimming the fat from a meat stew make the dish the day before you are going to use it and refrigerate. The fat will harden at the top in a solid cake and may be easily removed.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Scare Her if Necessary

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 17 and, believe me, we are not square parents. But how can we convince her that we put down certain rules for her own good?

For instance, her father absolutely forbids her to park on a lonely road. She says all the kids do it and she is hurt because it looks like we don't trust her. We DO trust her, Abby. She has never given us reason to worry. But so many young people have been victims of sex maniacs and robbers who look for kids in isolated places. Do I dare frighten her with these facts? Can you put some advice into words to help us... Abby? I'm sure other parents have this problem.

MOM
DEAR MOM: If awakening her to reality is "frightening"—then I say, frighten her. Young couples parked in deserted places are setups for all kinds of criminals. All parents should alert their children to this growing danger.

DEAR ABBY: For nine years I have been married to a man who grinds his teeth in his sleep. I have been putting up with this like a good scout. But sometimes it gets so unbearable that I have to go sleep on the couch. He claims it is my imagination, but I know it isn't. Is there any cure for this? Maybe a dentist could help. Am I alone in my problem? Can't someone help me?

GRINDER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I don't know what a dentist could do, short of pulling all his teeth. Your only solution is to sleep apart or get used to the same old grind.

DEAR ABBY: All winter I bought bird seed and corn for the birds and squirrels. The people across the street have three big cats. These cats are always in my yard after the robins and baby squirrels. The cats have already killed two baby squirrels.

I told these people to keep their cats in their own yard, but they laugh in my face. They even watched their cat kill a baby robin and they thought it was a joke. Is there any protection for wild life or is it just for domestic pets?

SENIOR CITIZEN
DEAR CITIZEN: Your local S.P.C.A. should be notified. If there is none, call the police.

DEAR ABBY: Can a child born out of wedlock be christened? I have heard that it cannot.

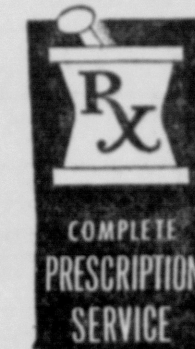

NEED INFORMATION
DEAR NEED: You have heard wrong. A child born out of wedlock CAN be christened and special efforts are usually made to do so.

"What's your problem?" For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Governor Asks Local Help In Ending Gambling as Usual

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle wants more help from local officials to make his statewide gambling clamp-down effective.

DiSalle Says Understanding OK with Young

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle asserted his understanding with Sen. Stephen M. Young (D-Ohio) on national convention delegate responsibilities is perfectly clear.

"He told me he understood," the governor added in a news conference.

As outlined by DiSalle, the understanding is:

Young will be a DiSalle favorite son delegate on a slate pledged to the nomination of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) for president at the Los Angeles convention next summer.

If Young feels after early balloting that Kennedy might not win, he has agreed to caucus with Ohio delegates before switching to another candidate — presumably a senate colleague.

The governor said he has given his written consent, required by statute, for Young to be a delegate candidate in the May 3 primary election and expects to have him on his slate. He also has written Young to that effect, the governor added.

ports on gambling observed by liquor agents might aid local enforcement.

The governor said reports from some localities state "gambling as usual." He asserted police chiefs, sheriffs and prosecutors should be notified.

"I feel that if the local enforcement officers get these reports regularly they would become uneasy about them," DiSalle explained.

The governor said liquor enforcement agents objected to the plan on grounds that gamblers would be warned and become more difficult to apprehend. Agents feel that if the activities continue, then local officials know about them, he added. The governor declined to elaborate.

DiSalle refused to identify localities where gambling was reported but said the activities were "nothing big."

A grand jury investigation in Stark County resulted from the governor's efforts but Belmont and Jefferson county inquiries produced no indictments.

2 Amishmen Jailed In Draft Dispute

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two Amishmen were jailed today to decide whether they would work at Columbus State Hospital in lieu of military service or go to prison.

U.S. District Court here gave them until Feb. 15 to decide.

They are Levi L. Herschberger, 23, of near Wooster and Eli J. Miller, 25, of near Apple Creek in Wayne County.

Both were charged with failure to report for work for national importance in lieu of military service because of religious objections.

The court planned to consider later the case of Daniel Lee Coffman, 26, Lebanon, a Jehovah's Witnesses minister, similarly charged. Coffman reported at the hospital but said he was unable to stay.

Governor Asks Local Help In Ending Gambling as Usual

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle wants more help from local officials to make his statewide gambling clamp-down effective.

DiSalle Says Understanding OK with Young

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle asserted his understanding with Sen. Stephen M. Young (D-Ohio) on national convention delegate responsibility is perfectly clear.

"He told me he understood," the governor added in a news conference.

DiSalle made his observation in commenting on persistent reports from Washington that Ohio's junior senator didn't understand the understanding.

As outlined by DiSalle, the understanding is:

Young will be a DiSalle favorite son delegate on a slate pledged to the nomination of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) for president at the Los Angeles convention next summer.

If Young feels after early balloting that Kennedy might not win, he has agreed to caucus with Ohio delegates before switching to another candidate — presumably a senate colleague.

The governor said he has given his written consent, required by statute, for Young to be a delegate candidate in the May 3 primary election and expects to have him on his slate. He also has written Young to that effect, the governor added.

ports on gambling observed by liquor agents might aid local enforcement.

The governor said reports from some localities state "gambling as usual." He asserted police chiefs, sheriffs and prosecutors should be notified.

"I feel that if the local enforcement officers get these reports regularly they would become uneasy about them," DiSalle explained.

The governor said liquor enforcement agents objected to the plan on grounds that gamblers would be warned and become more difficult to apprehend. Agents feel that if the activities continue, then local officials know about them, he added. The governor declined to elaborate.

DiSalle refused to identify localities where gambling was reported but said the activities were "nothing big."

A grand jury investigation in Stark County resulted from the governor's efforts but Belmont and Jefferson county inquiries produced no indictments.

Stock Mart Prices Still On Rebound

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market carried its rebound into the second session as badly battered stocks won back large portions of their January losses today. Trading was moderate early this afternoon.

Motors were pacemakers as leading stocks throughout the list advanced from fractions to a point or more. More speculative issues recouped 2 to 5 points.

On average, it was the best market rise since Jan. 5, the second trading day of the year. But it was accomplished on desultory trading.

Thin demand sufficed to push up blue chips. Brokers reported that their order books were light both on the "buy" and "sell" side. The market community was still, apparently, in a wait-and-see mood.

The pickup in demand was prompted, analysts said, first by the "oversold" prices of many stocks, by the psychological effect of a rally in bonds and other fixed-income obligations — making their yields less attractive compared with stock yields — and also by an encouraging array of business news.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up $1.60 to $218.80 with the industrials up $3.30, the rails up 50 cents and the utilities up 50 cents.

Corporate bonds were narrowly mixed. U.S. government bonds advanced.

2 Area Soldiers Aid Demonstration

Two Circleville area men are in Kentucky this week to assist in an aerial firepower demonstration being conducted for Regular Army troops at Ft. Knox by the Ohio Air National Guard.

They are Tech. Sgt. Roscoe W. Gates of 290 Lewis Ave., and Staff Sgt. Chester O. Brown Jr. of Route 2, Ashville.

The Air Guard will perform the demonstration Friday to show how bombs, rockets and machine gun fire from jets can be used to destroy ground targets. The Ohio group left for Kentucky Sunday.

and an artillery and tank battle before dawn on the southeast shore of the Sea of Galilee.

The Syrians said their MIG jets shot down one of four Israeli Super-Mystere jet fighters and damaged another over Syrian territory. An Israeli spokesman said two Israeli fighters took on four Syrian jets over Israeli territory and repulsed the Arab planes without casualties to either side.

Israel reported three Israeli and two Syrian soldiers killed in the ground clash.

The current tension centers on Tawafik, an Arab village in the zone demilitarized by the 1949 Syrian-Israeli armistice.

Israel maintains the Syrians are using the village as a military outpost and are sending in soldiers disguised as farmers. Israeli units blew up most of the houses in the village Sunday night after it was abandoned by the Syrians.

The Syrians countercharged that Israel is trying to drive Arab farmers from lands in the area that are rightfully Arab. They said the village was used only by Arab farmers who "casually drop in there when they work on their land."

County Court Disposes of 61 Cases

The Pickaway County Common Pleas Court disposed of 61 cases during January, 28 more than in December.

This is one of the heaviest disposal loads in recent years, brought about by 32 domestic relations cases, 13 civil and 16 criminal disposals during the month.

Another low figure in pending cases, which numbers 222 as of Monday. This compares with 248 cases pending as of January 1, a reduction of 26 cases in one month's duration.

Included in cases pending were 78 domestic relations cases, 81 civil and 63 criminal. Judge William Ammer's report showed 23 inactive and 40 active.

CHS Student Gets Award For English

John T. Davis, a senior in Circleville High School, recently received an award from the National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE). He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Davis, Montclair Ave.

More than 800 awards were given this month to American high school students who survived a rigid testing and judging program to establish their excellence in English language skills. The awards were made from some 5,000 students who entered the competition.

Scrolls of recognition will be presented to the winners and runners-up, and their names will be sent to all of the nation's colleges and universities with recommendations that they be considered for appropriate scholarships. High school departments of English involved will also receive certificates of merit for their excellent instructional programs. The names of these outstanding young people will also be sent to the Congressmen and Governors of their respective states.

NCTE adopted the Achievement Awards program in 1958 to grant recognition to high school students for excellence in English. A follow-up survey of the first-year winners showed that they had received more than $800,000 worth of scholarship aid when they entered college this fall.

THE NCTE, a not-for-profit professional organization, works with English teachers through publications, conventions, and other educational materials to help improve the teaching of English from kindergarten to the college seminar. The Council now has about 60,000 member-subscribers.

Circleville Man Named Officer Of Tectum Corp.

Former Circleville resident, Richard O. Mader, has been appointed secretary and treasurer of Tectum Corporation, a building materials manufacturer with offices in Columbus and a factory in Newark.

Mader, who currently resides at 4468 Lake of the Woods Drive in Galena, had been assistant secretary of the firm since 1958.

He is a 1938 graduate of Circleville High School and is secretary of the Circleville Oil Co.

He was graduated from Ohio State University in 1942 and has been associated with various public and private accounting organizations in Columbus for the past 14 years.

In addition to the Newark plant, Tectum has a factory in Arkadelphia, Arkansas. Recently the company established an overseas outlet, Tectum International, Ltd., with offices in Nassau, Bahamas, B. W. I.

Disposition Made On Traffic Cases

Disposition was reached on six traffic cases in Circleville Municipal Court today. All the drivers were arrested by the State Highway Patrol.

Fined $20 and costs for speeding at 70 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone were: Joseph Skaff Jr., 30, Toledo; Carleen M. Sprinkle, 27, Warren, Mich.; Larry L. Thomas, 19, Route 2, Laurelville; and George S. Horner, 42, Chillicothe.

Robert L. Whitten, 21, Route 1, Chillicothe, forfeited a $36.50 bond for speeding at 80 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Robert C. Cochran, 28, Chillicothe, was fined $10 and costs for failure to dim his car lights.

Former Circleville Woman Hostess to Foreign Officers

The hospitality the people extended their son Geoffrey, on a tour of the Middle East, Europe and the Holy Land several years ago prompted Mr. and Mrs. B. V. Chesbrough, London, Ohio, to begin a reciprocal practice that has become one of their most enjoyable avocations.

Mrs. Chesbrough is the former Betty Bowsher, Circleville.

No sooner had their son returned home until the London couple found their first opportunity to accord the same warm hospitality to a visitor from Iran, Colonel Ataollah Farrokhi - Sear of the Tehran, Iran, Police Department who was in training at the Ohio State Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation at London.

Out of sheer interest in their Iranian visitor and the enjoyment of entertaining him in their home, the Chesbroughs have continued opening their home to many other officers who have trained in the Ohio BCI, the last several years and have found the experience as much or more enjoyable for themselves than their appreciative guests.

The Ohio BCI, taking note of the appreciative comments the foreign officers continued applying to the Chesbroughs, requested them to honor the BCI with a visit to the office of Superintendent Hugh L. Leggett, who on behalf of the state agency presented them with a framed and gold-sealed Certificate of Appreciation, the first award of this type ever presented by the Ohio BCI.

In part the award certificate stated, "to heartily applaud your obviously unselfish, sincere and highly enjoyable efforts to promote peace and good will among our fellow officers from other lands."

PRESENTLY the Chesbroughs are entertaining a guest from Athens, Greece. He is Inspector Soterios Katsimbaros of the Athens Police Department.

Others who have shared the hospitality of the Chesbroughs, in addition to Colonel Farrokhi-Siar, the Iranian Police Inspector, were: Capt. Eung Shik Kim and Lieut. Chang Woo Lee, Korean police; Capt. Jesus Lapus and Lieut. Meliton Goyena, Philippine Constabulary; Pedro S. Tandoc, National Bureau of Investigation, Philippines; Inspector Constantinos Lemonis and Mrs. Lemonis, Athens, Greece Police Department; Colonel Lek Forty and Capt. Kasem M. Niramaya, Bangkok, Thailand, Police Department; Mohamed Samba and Rachmad Mardjuki, Central Bureau of Identification, Djakarta, Indonesia; Major Rachmad Subagio, Djakarta Police Department; Mohammed Ghedamsi, Tunis, Tunisia, Nationale Surete.

Each of the officers was sent to London and the BCI's Police Academy to further their studies in American law enforcement, the science of fingerprint identification and criminal investigation under a program of the International Co-operative Administration, administered by the International Association of Chiefs of Police, Washington, D. C.

Shrine Club Taps Officers

Installation of officers and directors was held by the Pickaway County Shrine Club during a meeting held last night at Tink's Tavern.

Robert Wood was installed as president and Bud Christopher took the helm of vice president. Clarence Radcliffe was placed in the office of secretary and Ray Reid, treasurer. Directors named were Wes Edstrom, Durward Dowden, J. P. Hays, Dr. C. Cromley, Robert Liston and Dr. Robert Smith.

The ceremony was attended by 70 Nobles and wives.

Dr. Robert Hedges, outgoing president, gave a report on the accomplishments of the Shrine Club last year.

Carl Radcliff Sr. and Durward Dowden were recognized as recipients of Membership Medallions, received during a Fall Ceremony.

Dowden, Elsea Named Directors

Durward D. Dowden, 645 N. Court St., and Robert S. Elsea, Route 3, were elected to the board of directors at the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Forest Cemetery Association.

The meeting was held in the Cemetery office Wednesday. Dowden was named vice-president and Elsea as a member of the board.

Stock Mart Prices Still On Rebound

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market carried its rebound into the second session as badly battered stocks won back large portions of their January losses today. Trading was moderate early this afternoon.

Motors were pacemakers as leading stocks throughout the list advanced from fractions to a point or more. More speculative issues recouped 2 to 5 points.

On average, it was the best market rise since Jan. 5, the second trading day of the year. But it was accomplished on desultory trading.

Thin demand sufficed to push up blue chips. Brokers reported that their order books were light both on the "buy" and "sell" side. The market community was still, apparently, in a wait-and-see mood.

The pickup in demand was prompted, analysts said, first by the "oversold" prices of many stocks, by the psychological effect of a rally in bonds and other fixed-income obligations — making their yields less attractive compared with stock yields — and also by an encouraging array of business news.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up $1.60 to $218.80 with the industrials up $3.30, the rails up 50 cents and the utilities up 50 cents.

Corporate bonds were narrowly mixed.

U.S. government bonds advanced.

and an artillery and tank battle before dawn on the southeast shore of the Sea of Galilee.

The Syrians said their MIG jets shot down one of four Israeli Super-Mystere jet fighters and damaged another over Syrian territory. An Israeli spokesman said two Israeli fighters took on four Syrian jets over Israeli territory and repulsed the Arab planes without casualties to either side.

Israel reported three Israeli and two Syrian soldiers killed in the ground clash.

The current tension centers on Tawafik, an Arab village in the zone demilitarized by the 1949 Syrian-Israeli armistice.

Israel maintains the Syrians are using the village as a military outpost and are sending in soldiers disguised as farmers. Israeli units blew up most of the houses in the village Sunday night after it was abandoned by the Syrians.

The Syrians countercharged that Israel is trying to drive Arab farmers from lands in the area that are rightfully Arab. They said the village was used only by Arab farmers who "casually" drop in there when they work on their land.

Grubbs File Answer in Fence Suit

Dwight L. and Mable G. Grubbs, Route 4, defendants in a line fence suit, filed an answer and cross petition with the Pickaway County Clerk of Court's office yesterday.

The plaintiffs, George W. and Margaret H. Stumbo, Route 4, petitioned the County Common Pleas Court for an injunction against the Grubbs to halt erection of a fence which they claim is on their property.

They said the Grubbs are attempting to erect a line fence on their property that runs into their back steps.

The Grubbs maintain that the plaintiffs have neither the real estate or are entitled to possession of the land in question.

THEY SAY the Stumbos have constructed a rental building on their property without their consent.

They state that the defendants are discharging or permitting their renters to discharge sewage and household wastes onto their property.

The Grubbs cross petitioned the court to declare the Stumbos claim to their property null and void and that their title be quieted.

They also asked for a mandatory injunction to compel the Stumbos to remove the rental building and be enjoined from discharging further sewage and wastes.

The Grubbs are represented by Attorney Richard W. Penn, 114 1/2 N. Court St. Robert H. Huffer, 210 S. Court St., represents the Stumbos.

County Court Disposes of 61 Cases

The Pickaway County Common Pleas Court disposed of 61 cases during January, 28 more than in December.

This is one of the heaviest disposal loads in recent years, brought about by 32 domestic relations cases, 13 civil and 16 criminal disposals during the month.

Another low figure is in pending cases, which numbers 222 as of Monday. This compares with 248 cases pending as of January 1, a reduction of 26 cases in one month's duration.

Included in cases pending were 78 domestic relations cases, 81 civil and 63 criminal. Judge William Ammer's report showed 23 inactive and 40 active.

JUDGE Ammer said 35 cases were filed during January, an increase of 10 from December. They included 16 domestic relations cases, 11 civil and eight criminal.

Disposition by court action was reached in 11 domestic relations cases, two civil and 11 criminal. No cases were tried to a petit jury.

Nine civil cases were cognovit and default judgments. A total of 21 domestic relations, two civil and five criminal were settled or dismissed.

The heavy dismissal action of domestic relations or divorce cases resulted from Judge Ammer's decision to erase cases for lack of prosecution. Many couples in these old divorce filings have gone back together.

There were no traffic point system cases. Five cases await hearings before the 4th District Court of Appeals.

Pickaway Grange

WASHINGTON

Washington Grange listed several activities during a meeting held last week. The session was directed by Ralph DeLong, master.

Mrs. Arthur Leist, home economics chairman, announced that the Stock Sale Dinner will be held the second Wednesday in February.

Dave Valentine, youth chairman, announced contests which will be offered the Grange Youth.

An appeal for aid to the Mill Fork Valley Grange was made.

LECTURER Russell Waidelich listed Booster Night as the first meeting in March.

The program was based on Fire Prevention. Articles on ways to make the home safe were read by several members.

Contests concluded the meeting. Refreshments were served by Floy Brobst and Mr. and Mrs. Delvin Smith.

CHS Student Gets Award For English

John T. Davis, a senior in Circleville High School, recently received an award from the National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE). He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Davis, Montclair Ave.

More than 800 awards were given this month to American high school students who survived a rigid testing and judging program to establish their excellence in English language skills. The awards were made from some 5,000 students who entered the competition.

Scrolls of recognition will be presented to the winners and runners-up, and their names will be sent to all of the nation's colleges and universities with recommendations that they be considered for appropriate scholarships.

High school departments of English involved will also receive certificates of merit for their excellent instructional programs. The names of these outstanding young people will also be sent to the Congressmen and Governors of their respective states.

NCTE adopted the Achievement Awards program in 1958 to grant recognition to high school students for excellence in English. A follow-up survey of the first-year winners showed that they had received more than $800,000 worth of scholarship aid when they entered college this fall.

THE NCTE, a not-for-profit professional organization, works with English teachers through publications, conventions, and other educational materials to help improve the teaching of English from kindergarten to the college seminar. The Council now has about 60,000 member-subscribers.

Disposition Made On Traffic Cases

Disposition was reached on six traffic cases in Circleville Municipal Court today. All the drivers were arrested by the State Highway Patrol.

Fined $20 and costs for speeding at 70 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone were: Joseph Skaff Jr., 30, Toledo; Carleen M. Sprinkle, 27, Warren, Mich.; Larry L. Thomas, 19, Route 2, Laureville; and George S. Horner, 42, Chillicothe.

Robert L. Whitten, 21, Route 1, Chillicothe, forfeited a $36.50 bond for speeding at 80 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Robert C. Cochran, 26, Chillicothe, was fined $10 and costs for failure to dim his car lights.

Former Circleville Woman Hostess to Foreign Officers

The hospitality the people extended their son Geoffrey, on a tour of the Middle East, Europe and the Holy Land several years ago prompted Mr. and Mrs. B. V. Chesbrough, London, Ohio, to begin a reciprocal practice that has become one of their most enjoyable avocations.

Mrs. Chesbrough is the former Betty Bowsher, Circleville.

No sooner had their son returned home until the London couple found their first opportunity to accord the same warm hospitality to a visitor from Iran, Colonel Ataollah Farrok — Sear of the Tehran, Iran, Police Department who was in training at the Ohio State Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation at London.

Out of sheer interest in their Iranian visitor and the enjoyment of entertaining him in their home, the Chesbroughs have continued opening their home to many other officers who have trained in the Ohio BCI, the last several years and have found the experience as much or more enjoyable for themselves than their appreciative guests.

The Ohio BCI, taking note of the appreciative comments the foreign officers continued applying to the Chesbroughs, requested them to honor the BCI with a visit to the office of Superintendent Hugh L. Leggett, who on behalf of the state agency presented them with a framed and gold-sealed Certificate of Appreciation, the first award of this type ever presented by the Ohio BCI.

In part the award certificate stated, "—to heartily applaud your obviously unselfish, sincere and highly enjoyable efforts to promote peace and good will among our fellow officers from other lands."

PRESENTLY the Chesbroughs are entertaining a guest from Athens, Greece. He is Inspector Soterios Katsimbaros of the Athens Police Department.

Others who have shared the hospitality of the Chesbroughs, in addition to Colonel Farrok-Siar, the Iranian Police Inspector, were: Capt. Eung Shik Kim and Lieut. Chang Woo Lee, Korean police; Capt. Jesus Lapus and Lieut. Meliton Goyena, Philippine Constabulary; Pedro S. Tandoc, National Bureau of Investigation, Philippines; Inspector Constantinos Lemonis and Mrs. Lemonis, Athens, Greece Police Department; Colonel Lek Forty and Capt. Kasem M. Niramaya, Bangkok, Thailand, Police Department; Mohamed Samba and Rachmad Mardjuki, Central Bureau of Identification, Djakarta, Indonesia; Major Rachmad Subagio, Djakarta Police Department; Mohammed Ghe-

damsi, Tunis, Tunisia, Nationale Surete.
Each of the officers was sent to London and the BCI's Police Academy to further their studies in American law enforcement, the science of fingerprint identification and criminal investigation under a program of the International Co-operative Administration, administered by the International Association of Chiefs of Police, Washington, D. C.

Shrine Club Taps Officers

Installation of officers and directors was held by the Pickaway County Shrine Club during a meeting held last night at Tink's Tavern.

Robert Wood was installed as president and Bud Christopher took the helm of vice president. Clarence Radcliffe was placed in the office of secretary and Ray Reid, treasurer. Directors named were Wes Edstrom, Durward Dowden, J. P. Hays, Dr. C. Cromley, Robert Liston and Dr. Robert Smith.

The ceremony was attended by 70 Nobles and wives.

Dr. Robert Hedges, outgoing president, gave a report on the accomplishments of the Shrine Club last year.

Carl Radcliff Sr. and Durward Dowden were recognized as recipients of Membership Medallions, received during a Fall Ceremony.

Dowden, Elsea Named Directors

Durward D. Dowden, 645 N. Court St., and Robert S. Elsea, Route 3, were elected to the board of directors at the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Forest Cemetery Association.

The meeting was held in the Cemetery office Wednesday. Dowden was named vice-president and Elsea as a member of the board.
